New Town Engineer Elected By B. P. W.

Warren O. Petersen of Haverhill, Navy Veteran Of World War II, To Succeed Chas. T. Gilliard, Resigned

Seriously Injured In Auto Accident

Norman A. Ross, 26, of 54 High st., was critically injured early Monday morning in Andover's only serious accident over the holiday weekend.

Ross, a sailor, was taken from beneath his upturned car on Elm street shortly before 2 a.m. and brought to the Lawrence General hospital where it was found he was suffering from internal injuries, five broken ribs, concussion and possible skull fracture.

At the hospital his condition was reported as fair but his name is still on the danger list.

According to the report of investigating officers Ross was traveling west on Elm street about 1:56 a.m. when the right side of his car grazed a tree in front of 90 Elm st., continued on the right side of the road and struck another tree in front of 86 Elm st. It then sideswiped another tree 62 feet further west, went diagonally across the street, grazed another tree, travelled 31 feet more where it struck and knocked down about six feet of a stone wall. It rolled over on its side with the driver underneath.

Officers Calvin Deyermund, Russell Berthel and James R. Lynch were investigating another case on Elm street just before the accident when they saw the car coming from the direction of Wilson's corner. Officer Lynch ran into the street and signalled for it to stop but the car continued on. Officer Deyermund radioed to the police car in the square to stop the driver. A few minutes later, the police report, they received a call that a car had tipped over near 86 Elm st.

They went to the scene of the accident and found Ross alone and underneath the car. They called for the ambulance and a fire truck, and managed to roll the car off the injured man.

The scene of the accident is between Washington avenue and Foster circle. Ross was taken to the hospital and the firemen washed down the oil and gas in the street.

New Organist At South Church

The South church welcomes Raymond Coon as organist and choir director on Sunday, Sept. 11. Mr. Coon who succeeds Weston Brannen, comes to Andover to serve as Organ instructor at Abbot academy and as director of music at the South church as well. Mr. Coon is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston. He studied, also, at Boston university under Raymond Robinson. For the past seven and a half years he has been organist and choir director of the First Parish church in Needham. His home has been in Needham, but Warren O. Petersen of 16 Hawthorne st., Haverhill was elected Tuesday night by the board of public works as town engineer to succeed Charles T. Gilliard, resigned. Mr. Petersen will start on his new duties about Oct. 1.

Mr. Petersen, who holds professional engineer licenses in Massachusetts and New York, received his early education in the public schools of Worcester and attended Haverhill High school where he completed a scientific course and graduated with the class of 1929. He attended Northeastern university from which he graduated in 1934 with S. B. in civil engineering.

From April 1930 to April 1934 and later from October 1933 to September 1934 he worked in the city engineer's office in Haverhill and for about a year later was employed in the office of Morse, Dickinson and Goodwin, Haverhill engineers.

After several months working and traveling in Chile, S.A., he returned and joined the New Hampshire state highway department working on computation, design and estimates of highways.

August Building Operations Brisk

The month of August was a big one for building construction in Andover, according to the records of Ralph W. Colman, building inspector, who issued permits for new buildings and alterations at an estimated cost of $180,500.

This brought the total estimated cost for new building and additions and alterations for the present year up to $603,450 for the former and $78,950 for the latter, a total of $682,400 since the first of the year.

This figure is slightly lower than that of a similar period last year. Up to Sept. 1, 1948 permits had been granted for new construction estimated at a cost of $852,769 and additions and alterations estimated at $81,480, a total of $934,249.

Permits for new buildings were granted during the month of August to the following:

Earl M. and C. Madeline Slate, Argilla rd.; Frank Monan, Magnolia ave.; Michael Melucci, Old Poor st.; Winthrop and Elizabeth Newcomb, Chestnut st.; Charles M. and Thayer B. Poor, Chestnut st.; Richard and Edna M. Lounsbury, Gould rd.; Fred W. Doyle, Chandler rd.; Charles J. and Olive Richards, Gould rd.; John Abercrombie, Hidden rd.; Claude P. VIEWS OF THE NEWS

By LEONARD F. JAMES

This week the United States, Great Britain and Canada are meeting to discuss the most recent crisis—dollar deficits. These talks are preliminary to larger consultations of European Recovery program nations in Washington. The general situation is that for the first year of the Marshall Plan, Europe's dollar earnings through sales of goods and services paid for one fifth of her imports from the western hemisphere. The Marshall Plan of grants and loans was designed to help Europe break even within four years. If the plan is to succeed Europe must pay for the full five fifths of her imports by 1952. The Other Man's

Problems Forgotten
Although all the ERP nations are involved in the problem, Britain is of immediate concern to us because she has received the largest proportion of aid, and her future is of great importance to our own security. Started by our first realization of the gravity of

Picks Up Youths In Stolen Auto

Through the alertness of Officer Raymond F. Collins two Manchester, N.H. juveniles and a stolen car from that city were picked up here about 3:20 a.m. Tuesday. Officer Collins saw the pair in the car at Main and Salem sts. and believing they were quite young to be riding around at that hour stopped them for questioning. They were brought to the station and later returned to Manchester. The car was taken from the Harhos used car lot in that city.

Scouts Planning Regional Meeting

The annual meeting of Region 1, Boy Scouts of America, will be held Saturday, Oct. 1, at the New Ocean house, Swampscott, beginning at 9 a.m.

John Mason Kemper, headmaster of Phillips academy, will be one of the principal speakers at the all-day session.

A dinner for all council presidents will be held Friday, Sept. 30, the evening before the meeting.

The various scout troops of Andover will start their fall meetings this week and next. The units registered at present are Troop 70, Christ church; Troop 72 and Cub Pack 72, Free church; Troop 73, South church; Troop 75, St. Augustine's church; and Troop 76, Ballardvale PTA.

Total Of 2041 Enter Public And Parochial Schools; Gain Of 136

The public and parochial schools of Andover opened Wednesday with the largest enrollments in the history of both schools.

The public school attendance was up to 1644 for the opening day, an increase of 114 over the attendance a year ago. Some of this is due to the students of Boxford attending Pynchard High and the Junior High schools. Other increases were noted in the Central and the Shawsheen schools.

Opening of the schools went on very smoothly. Charles Gregory, history teacher, acted as principal of Pynchard High school in the absence of Eugene V. Lovely, principal, who is ill at his home. Mr. Gregory has substituted for Mr. Lovely in the past.

At the Junior High school all class work went along smoothly under the leadership of Benjamin H. Dimlich, who has been acting as school principal due to the vacancy caused by the resignation of Milton H. Nelson, who resigned to become principal of the Nahant schools.

BACK TO WORK

This week has seen thousands of people coming back from their vacations and settling themselves down for another period of work.

This store likens itself to those thousands who have been away on their vacations. We, you know, took a little vacation ourselves! — on Mondays! — Our store was closed every Monday during the Summer since the last week in June.

Now, we are back to work!... This coming Monday will have us back at the same old stand and doing business as usual. We appreciate very much the indulgence of our friends and customers in allowing us that day off... We hope that we had not too seriously inconvenienced any of them also, when they would drive down our street on the days that we were closed, and find that they could not get any response. Again, thank you for allowing us that day off.

Veterans' Housing Ground Breaking

The official ground breaking for the veterans' housing project on Morton street will be held with a public ceremony Friday at 11 a.m.

The heads of local veteran organizations, representatives of the veterans' service office, Trial Justice Richard K. Gordon, Sen. John W. Coddare, Jr. and members of the Andover Housing authority will be present.

Gov. Paul A. Dever will be represented by Sec. of State Edward J. Cronin and State Treasurer John E. Hurley. Frederick W. Roche, chairman of the state housing authority, and Clinton F. Goodwin, architect of the project, will also be numbered among the invited guests.

The Benoit Construction Co. of Lynn, successful bidders for the contract have been doing preliminary work on the site where 12 buildings of 56 dwelling units will be constructed to be ready for occupancy sometime during the summer of 1950.

Grange Wins Prize At Topsfield Fair

The Andover Grange, 183, won fourth prize for its exhibit at the Topsfield fair. It was numbered among the eleven subordinate granges in Essex county. The local grange has not participated in this contest for over twenty five years. The contest was extremely close this year and the judges debated most of the day, Monday, on the resulting awards.

Andover Grange had as its theme for their exhibit "The Farm Kitchen". It consisted of a sink, pump, and soapdish, over which was a curtained window, through this, one could observe a farm youth and Hereford Bull. On either side of this window were kitchen shelves. On these shelves and the table below it was the display of vegetables, fruits, home arts, crafts, flowers, plants, and canned goods. All the material used in the exhibit was from members of Andover Grange or interested friends.

The committee from Andover Grange consisted of the following members: Theme, Alexander Henderson; fruit, William Barron, Jr.; vegetables, Hartwell Abbot; home arts and crafts, Mrs. Alexander Henderson; canned goods, Ebb S. Peterson; flowers and plants, Floyd K. Darby and Fred I. Carter. Mrs. Hartwell Abbot was chairman of the group.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The members of the Andover Historical society are invited to attend a lecture at Old Sturbridge village at 3 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 10, by William S. Fowler, one of New England's foremost archaeologists. He will take for his subject "New England Beneath Your Feet," and will illustrate his talk with artifacts.

His lecture will be of particular interest to all who have interest in the people who lived in New England before the white man. Mr. Fowler is curator of archaeology at the Attleboro Museum, and secretary of the Massachusetts Archaeological society.

PASS BAR EXAM

Two Andover young men were among the 223 candidates who passed the Massachusetts bar examinations, according to the list recently announced.

Thomas V. Sullivan of 49 Balmoral st., who attended Phillips academy, Villanova college and Boston college Law school, will be associated with his father, Atty. James J. Sullivan in the practice of law.

Bayard T. Crane, Jr. 50 Walnut ave., son of Mrs. Louise Crane of Rutland, Vt., attended Worcester academy and Boston university. He served in the army during World War II.

Returns From Trip

Loring Batchelder returned last week to his home on Argilla rd. after spending seven weeks enjoying a hitch-hiking trip across the country. During the time he was away he covered 9000 miles and traveled in 27 states, Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore., impressed him as being two very beautiful cities. The Yosemite valley in California was dried up at the time of his visit. He carried a raincoat which he had to use just once in the entire time he was away.

While in Iowa he worked for two weeks on the construction of a steel grain elevator. The weather while he was in San Francisco was very cool. He said New England looked good to him on his return.

For centuries there has been a mistaken notion that those with cerebral palsy were mentally deficient. Recently, however, it has been estimated that at least 70 per cent are educable. Though its annual Easter Seal campaign, the Bay State Society for the Crippled and Handicapped, Inc., helps children with cerebral palsy to become more useful members of society.

One of the great authorities on epilepsy is Dr. William G. Lennox, head of the seizure unit for the diagnosis and treatment of epilepsy at Children's hospital in Boston. The unit is supported in part by the Bay State Society for the Crippled and Handicapped, Inc., the Easter Seal agency.

RADIO TALENT INCOMES GIVEN IN U. S. SURVEY

For talented young people aiming at a career in radio, a U. S. department of labor survey laid out the cold cash facts recently, says Pathfinder news magazine. The question: How much money do radio people make? The answer: One-fourth of radio actors made less than $900 during 1947, an equal number more than $9,100. Among singers, one quarter listed their earnings under $1,900, as many over $6,900. Staff announcers, with steadier work, made median salaries of $4,400. Sound effects men topped the median earnings with $5,000.

FIRE RECORD

Sept. 4—12:41 p.m., still alarm for brush fire in pine grove off Tewksbury st., in rear of home of George Dumont. The forest fire truck and Engine 2 responded. Sept. 6—12:05 p.m., Box 4, for another brush fire on same property as above. The forest fire truck and the jeep truck responded.

The carnival conducted by the Andover Fireman's Relief association opened Wednesday at the Playground and will continue through Saturday. A daily prize will be awarded and Saturday will be children's day with a doll carriage parade for girls up to 12 years old. There will be many other contests and attractions for the youngsters on that day.

honor roll of the state blood program. Far more important is the necessity for insuring the blood program for the future. The goal is to have blood available for the whole community's needs.

To the present, Andover chapter has supplied every call for blood. This program can continue to be successful only if the community supports it.

During the past week letters have been mailed out to several hundred local residents, with the hope of enlisting the help of more citizens. The urgent need now is for new donors. There is a sizable group of people who have donated blood to the program as many as 18 or 20 times, and the chapter is deeply grateful to them. But new donors must be found to replace those who are forced to drop out for various reasons.

They spent last year, $47,956.36 in child welfare work, $22,943 of which came from Essex county. All the money raised by the 40 and 8 goes for child welfare work and the Massachusetts committee comprised of about 15 men all over the state have been very active in giving services and conducting parties for the benefit of the youngsters. The record shows that 23,156 children were served by the committee last year.

and in March 1937 entered the employ of the New England Structural Co. of Everett designing and detailing structural steel for buildings and bridges.

In December 1938 he was with Jackson and Moreland, Boston, and in February 1939 went to the Metropolitan District water supply commission, Boston, designing and drafting. From May 1940 to July 1942 he was with the Panama Canal engineering division at Balboa Heights, C.Z., and from October 1942 to January 1946 was in the U.S. navy (Seabees) on construction work in the Pacific theatre.

Returning to this country he became principal engineer for the American Locomotive Co., Schenectady, N.Y., from January 1946 to August 1947 designing new work and alterations on buildings, writing specifications, letting contracts, purchasing and supervising installation of equipment.

At present Mr. Petersen is engaged in the office of Moore, Dickinson and Goodwin in Haverhill.

AT THE LIBRARY

Among the newer books added to the Memorial Hall library:

The Pilgrimage of Western Man Barr

This book considers man's search for one world down through four hundred years from the early vision of the City of God to the newer vision of the City of Man which reached its culmination in the nineteenth century. World War I shattered that later dream and in the latter portion of his book, Mr. Barr considers what must be put in its place.

The Springs Winslow
About a young girl's coming of age in an unusually perceptive and well-written story of a small southern town about the turn of the century as it is caught up in the excitement of the discovery of mineral springs and of the subsequent building of a summer hotel.

The Wisdom of Catholicism Pegis, ed.

An anthology which undertakes to gather together the rich harvest of Catholic thought over 20 centuries. Included are selections from great men whose thought is perennially vital to Catholic life, history and civilization. Saints, monks, philosophers represented span the period between St. John Chrysostom, St. Augustine and Etienne Gilson and Jacques Maritain.

Goethe, The Story of a Man Lewisohn, ed.

Translation of selections from his poems, autobiographical works and letters arranged in chronological order. A large portion of the material has never before appeared in English and some that has been available, Mr. Lewisohn has retranslated for this two volume work.

The Green Roller Bradford
About the Green Roller who preached up and down the swamp lands of Louisiana and who trained twelve men to take up his work. Roark Bradford's last book and according to some critics his best.

Shakespeare and the Players Hodges

Delightful, brief and simply written book about the theatre of Shakespeare's day. Pen drawings by the author give the book added interest.

Elephant Walk Standish
When Tom Carey, an English sea planter in Ceylon, built a new house, he defied local tradition for the spot was one that elephants had crossed for centuries. There is good character drawing in this story of suspense and impending tragedy.

New Ways in Discipline Baruch
Well-known for her many books about children, Dr. Baruch will gain a wide audience with this provocative study of new ways in discipline.

The Grange—Friend of the Farmer Gardner
A concise reference history of America's oldest farm organization and the only rural fraternity in the world during the years, 1867-1947. Presented to the Memorial Hall Library by Andover Grange No. 183.

Chinese Painting Cohn
An exquisite book, with more than two hundred illustrations, which details the rich history of Chinese painting over two thousand years and which brings to our attention many paintings, almost unknown to the Western World as well as many which are in British and American collections.

Doc Dillaboy Powers
Exciting as a western is this novel about a young doctor in the Arizona Territory in the wild days of the frontier.

United Nations Goodrich
A new edition of what has properly come to be regarded as the best single book about the United Nations, its purposes and organization.

Etiquette in Business Carney
Definite, proven answers to the hundreds of question of etiquette that come up in business, such as tactful speech, meeting people with ease, handling difficult situations. Not only office etiquette is discussed but there are chapters on situations in stores, beauty shops, restaurants, doctors' offices, clinic and hospital, and all kinds of meetings, speech making, dress and appearance, looking for a job, personal work, and mixing social life with business.

New Directory Of Manufacturers

The Memorial library has just added the 1950 edition of the Directory of New England Manufacturers. This standard reference book, now in its fourteenth edition, is issued with the editorial cooperation of the New England Council.

Business men and others wishing to consult this book will find here a listing of New England manufacturers. The detailed in-

Hold Vermont Men For Grand Jury

The five Vermont youths picked up early in the morning of Aug. 26 by Officers Joseph E. O'Brien and Richard Caldwell and later arraigned on charges of having burglar tools and a loaded revolver in their possession were ordered held for the grand jury under heavy bonds when their cases were heard last Thursday in district court at Lawrence.

Charges growing out of thefts from automobiles in Lawrence were also placed against them. Bail were also placed against them. Bail ranged from $10,500 to $21,000.

formation included gives the name of the firm, its complete address with location of plants, the names of president, treasurer, partners or proprietors, if it is a corporation and quite frequently the amount of capitalization and the number of employees.

The volume also contains a geographical section where manufacturers are listed by the city or town in which they are located and where products are described; a products section where manufacturers are listed under products made; and a brand section which lists brand and registered trade names used by New England manufacturers to identify their products. Sales departments and purchasing agents will find these sections of particular value.

In its introductory pages the book contains brief listings and tables which include the officers of the New England Council; New England's score board in the national economy, New England economic data, 1939-1943, 1944-1948.

The Port of New York is unique in that it is within the boundaries of two states, New York and New Jersey.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

SEPTEMBER VACATIONS

With the passing of Labor day we come to what was traditionally known as the end of summer. Families with school children are home from the beach, schools and colleges are opening and social organizations are planning programs for their first fall meetings.

Yet with all this activity pointing to a renewal of affairs that were dropped at the beginning of summer, we in New England know that Labor day does not end the season. Thousands in and outside this area have come to know that September in New England offers fine vacation weather, and today more and more people are spreading their holidays so as to include some time in the country or at the seashore to enjoy the pleasures of the "off" season.

All through the New England area the foliage season brings its thousands of tourists to view the vivid paintings of nature along our roadsides and the glorious panoramas in the broad sweep of vari-hued hills and mountains.

Labor day may mark the end of summer for many, but hotels and inns remain open well into the fall for the large number of patrons who are learning that mountain, lake and seashore offer ideal spots for relaxation and enjoyment during the coming months.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON AT POMP'S

The staff of instructors at Pomp's pond bathing beach climaxed a very successful summer season late last month with a two-day water carnival and pageant that brought large crowds of interested spectators to the popular recreation center to witness the events.

The youngsters of various ages who practiced for many days to stage this aquatic feature not only presented quite a show but through the efforts of the life saving and water safety staff acquired water skills that will serve them through life.

Beginners and advanced swimmers alike benefited from their hours of fun and training with the instructors, the former learning how to float, swim on their backs and under water, and the latter specializing in conventional forms of rescue and techniques involving the operation of surfboard, lifeboat, resuscitators and artificial respiration.

Youngsters were not the only ones who sought relief from the heat at the beach. Old and young shared in the use of the facilities there which have been greatly improved this year.

Then there were other diversions for entertainment during the eight-week period it was under supervision. Weekly corn roasts, weenie roasts and story-telling with Donald D. Dunn, head lifesaver acting as master of ceremonies, were features that helped swell the season's attendance to 39,272. In all, it made a pleasant and instructive season in which children and adults equally shared.

BEHIND THE WHEEL

Parents, do you have a teen-age son or daughter?

Well, if you worried about them crossing the streets 10 years ago when they started to school, they are facing even greater dangers today, according to the National Safety council.

The 1949 edition of "Accident Facts," statistical yearbook of the council, shows that 10 years ago 6.8 out of 100,000 of the children in the 5-14 age group were killed as pedestrians, and four out of 100,000 were killed in autos as nonpedestrians.

But in 1948, when they were 15-24 years of age, 3.1 out of 100,000 were killed as pedestrians—less than half the rate in 1938. But 28.1 out of 100,000 were killed in traffic as non-pedestrians—seven times the earlier rate!

The council concludes that in 1948 they were operating their own cars, or were riding in cars frequently driven by their friends, and that these cars were not being operated as safely as by older persons.

LETHAL AS A BOMB

The cigarette—that harmless looking little tube of paper filled with tobacco—can be as lethal as a bomb.

Last year, in New York City alone, smokers were responsible for more than 5600 fires which did a total damage of some $3,285,000. Tobacco was the biggest single contributor to the city's total loss of just under $20,000,000.

We can't blame the weed for this sorry record—and it is a record which is paralleled on a smaller scale in many other American cities, towns, and villages. The offenders are the people who do the smoking. They smoke in bed. They lay cigars and cigarettes and hot pipes down and forget about them. They discard butts without seeing that they're extinguished.

It has long been known that carelessness with matches and smoking materials is a prime cause of forest fires which have destroyed millions upon millions of acres of forest over the years. This is one of the worst of all the tragedies fire causes—buildings can be erected in a comparatively short time, but burned trees cannot. One cigarette, one match, is all that is needed, when conditions are "right," to destroy for generations a natural wonderland.

How can such waste be stopped? Only the individual smoker has the answer. It lies in accepting the responsibility that is his every time he smokes.

the situation we rather naturally showed resentment when our generosity seems to have brought no practical results. The rash of newspaper criticism from the United States, and the somewhat caustic answers it provoked in the British press are in a way natural. The Americans seize upon the Labor government as the source of all trouble, and the British naturally resent what they regard as interference with their right to choose whatever government they want. Newspaper naturally play up the dramatic, and newsmen on each side fail to appreciate fully the problems of the other country.

As The Congressman Sees It

What Europe is apt to forget, and very probably doesn't understand in the first place, is the peculiarity of domestic politics. Funds for ERP have to be voted by congress; they are paid out of current taxation of the American people and congressmen have to go back home for re-election. The issue is always before the public, and very much on the congressman's mind. Consequently, congress naturally remembers that since the end of the war Britain has received some $7 billions in grants and loans. These vast sums were supposed to tide her over the bad years and get her back on her own self-sufficient feet. And what does congress now hear from Mr. Hoffman, head of ERP? That while Britain is earning $600,000,000 from her exports, she needs $1,800,000,000 to balance her books. And that means that she is buying, despite rigid restrictions of foreign purchases, some three times as much as she sells in the western hemisphere. Put another way, she has to use her gold to make up the difference. If she goes on doing that she'll have only paper money left. And no American importer wants that. He can't change it for American dollars, since the British don't have them, and he might be stuck with useless paper money if the British gold runs out.

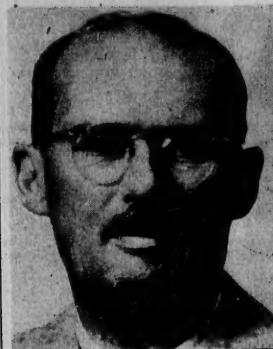

What Has Happened To The Money?

So when the congressman is asked to bolster up the British economy with more cash, he asks several questions. What has happened to the earlier grants and loans, and why haven't they solved the problem? Then being a free-enterprise man he wonders whether the Labor government isn't to be blamed, and he'd certainly like to know why he should vote more cash and whether it's a good bet. He wants to know because he's got to answer his voters soon.

The British Side

Across the Atlantic the British counterpart of our congressman also has facts which we can too easily ignore or not even understand. British production has increased 150 per cent above that of 1939. And to that the British voter can point as evidence of effort since 1945, an achievement of some consideration in view of the austerity of his life for the

HAROLD T. HOUSTON

A prominent figure in business and industrial circles, Harold T. Houston is well known throughout this community where he has made his home for the past 24 years.

As treasurer of the Bolta Co. in Lawrence Mr. Houston is kept busy but he still manages to find time to engage in the activities of the Andover Country club of which he is a member and the Phoenician lodge A.F. and A.M. He also belongs to the Alpha Kappa Psi and Beta Gamma Sigma fraternal organizations.

Educated at Lawrence High school and Boston university College of Business Administration, Mr. Houston for years held the position of treasurer in the Cross Dry Goods Co. and was a resident partner in the Robert Douglas & Co., C.P.A.

A veteran of the first World War Mr. Houston served with the chemical warfare service. He is married, has two daughters both of whom are married, and resides with his wife on Hidden rd.

past ten years. He can say also that just as the situation seemed to be well in hand, the American public cut down on their purchases of British goods. The why's and wherefore's may escape his understanding. The fact is there, and it is not unnatural that the politician play up that factor. But the British can answer the question, "Where did the money go?" If the American public really wants to know.

Where The Money Went

The British have managed to increase their food supply from one to two meals out of three. This was partly done by strict rationing of foods that must be purchased abroad. The third meal for every inhabitant for each day of the year has been bought abroad, much of it paid for in American dollars. Almost all the rest of the money was spent on raw materials—which they don't have—to turn into finished products to sell abroad. If they didn't spend the money on those raw materials, then severe unemployment would result because processing industries would have to close down.

Too Much Welfare State?

Yes, remarks the sympathetic listener, that's all very well. Let's admit that Britain lost much of her pre-war foreign investments, her shipping income, her insurance receipts and her tourist income from abroad. She may get those back, but the chances are that the volume won't be anything like pre-war days. Are there no other causes of the trouble? There are several, and a few are basic. Britain has probably gone too fast, perhaps too far, along the road of the welfare state. The government is taxing the country too heavily to pay for social security, cheap subsidized foods and health insurance. It takes in as taxes over 40 per cent of the gross national product. Too little is left for incentive of investment and spending by the individual and the industrialist.

British Costs Too High

Whether the British like it or not, the foreigner has lost confidence in British money. Britain may have to devalue, sell her pound for $3 instead of $4, and thus make her goods cheaper in the American market. But even this step can be temporary only. Unless she can sell much more in the United States to make up for the proportionate higher costs of her imports, her position won't be improved. If productive capacity in Britain remains the same, if costs of her goods don't go down, then her workers will have to pay more for her imports—and prices of finished exports go up again. Devaluation alone is only a stop-gap.

The still dangerous Kashmir issue—arising from the question of whether the state of Kashmir should join India or Pakistan—seems to be nearing a peaceful solution through the efforts of the United Nations. Invitations to implement recent truce agreements have been accepted by both countries involved. Meanwhile, however, U. N. military observers stay on the job, to check on possible unauthorized advances beyond accepted "cease fire" lines. Here a U. S. Lieutenant and a Canadian colonel, under orders of a U.N. Fatal Accidents Menace Nation's Future Economy

Fatal accidents are robbing America of more future working years than either heart disease or cancer, according to a special study by the American Medical association.

In fact, accidents take a greater toll of productive years than any one natural cause of death, the report states.

For many years, the National Safety council has listed accidents as the fourth leading cause of death, exceeded by heart disease, cancer and cerebral hemorrhage.
The medical association's findings, however, throw new light on the economic importance of accidents, even though accidents take fewer lives annually than do some degenerative diseases.

The study was made by Frank G. Dickinson, Ph.D., director of the bureau of medical economic research of the A.M.A., and Everett L. Welker, Ph.D., associate in mathematics, and covers the year 1945.

From federal statistics on the leading causes of deaths, and the ages at time of death, the researchers figured how many years of the usual working lifetime, ages 20 to 65, were lost.

Accidental deaths in 1945 took away 1,750,000 work years: heart disease, 1,680,000; pneumonia,
1,110,000, and cancer, 1,040,000.

In actual number of deaths, heart disease took four times as many lives as accidents and the cancer toll was nearly double.

No alarming rise in accidents is seen in the study. The report explains that medical advances have enabled the people of the nation to live longer and die during old age when their working lifetimes largely are over. Furthermore, the 1945 study was made in a year of wartime gasoline rationing, and the accidental death toll was less than it has been in any year since.

There is no doubt, the report points out, that fatal accidents now are the greatest menace to the nation's economy and security.

NIZIAK — SMILLIE

Miss Virginia Frances Smillie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Smillie of 4 Carmel rd. became the bride of Walter F. Niziak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Niziak of 13 Saunders st. Lawrence at 10 a.m. Monday, Sept. 5 in St. Augustine's church. The couple was united in marriage by the Rev. Father Matthew F. McDonald.

The church was decorated with white gladiolas in altar bouquets, and the front pews were marked with similar flowers and ribbon. During the ceremony James Sheard sang "Mother Beloved", "Mother at thy feet is kneeling", and "Prayer for a perfect life".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Frank B. Smillie, wore a gown of ice blue satin fashioned with a sheer yoke, fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves and bouffant skirt, caught up with hand-made roses over ruffles of net. Her veil was of chantilly lace made in a mantilla over ice blue tulle. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

The maid of honor, Helen F. Niziak of Lawrence, and the bridesmaids, Virginia M. Keefe, R.N. of Lawrence and Mary E. Donahue R.N. of Lawrence wore identical gowns of pink slipper satin, bustle back, and jackets with dolman sleeve. The maid of honor carried a cascade of purple astors and wore a pink bonnet with purple feathers. The bridesmaids carried a cascade of pink astors and wore pink satin bonnets with pink feathers.

The flower girl, Nancy J. Niziak of Lawrence, wore a gown of ice blue satin similar to the bride. She had roses in her hair and carried a white basket, trimmed with blue ribbons, filled with rose petals.

The best man was Richard Smillie, brother of the bride. The ushers were Robert E. Shields of Cambridge, and Warren Parsons of Lowell.

The bride's mother wore a grey lace dinner gown, grey hat, pink accessories, and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore an American beauty dinner gown with grey accessories and an orchid corsage.

After the reception at the Merimack Valley Country club, at which guests were present from California, Michigan, Cambridge, and Manchester, N.H., the couple left on their wedding trip. They will be at home at 7 Eutaw st., Lawrence after Sept. 18.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Lawrence high school and is attending Lowell Textile. The bride attended New Hampshire university and is a graduate of St. John's hospital, Lowell. At present, she is on the staff of the Clover Hill hospital.

The bride carried a bouquet of white roses centered by a blush pink orchid.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Arthur L. Hall, wore a heaven blue gown of satin, fashioned with drop shoulder and fitted bodice. She carried pink roses and baby's breath. Her headress was a matching blue satin. The bride's mother wore a green dress, matching hat, and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Dupey, who flew on to the wedding from Minneapolis, wore a black dress and a corsage of roses.

During the ceremony several nuptial selections were sung. Among these were "Because" and "I Love You Truly".

Arthur L. Hall was best man, and the ushers were John Privitera of Lawrence and Lewis Paine.

After a reception in the church vestry, the couple left for a wedding trip to Vermont. When they return, they will reside at 28 Maple ave.

The bride was educated in Clyde River, Nova Scotia, and the bridegroom attended Columbia Heights high school, Minnesota.

The Worker Must Increase Productivity

Two significant causes of the crisis can perhaps be remedied by further government planning. Although we may denounce government intervention we will probably have to approve of the practice in Britain. British wages will have to be frozen. Despite requests from the Trade Union congress, the general organization of unions, for maintenance of the wage level, the short work week, and the retention of expanded social services, the government of the day must face facts. The British worker has got to realize that he expects too high a reward for his goods than a competitive market will pay.

Maybe he doesn't think so, but his potential buyer does. He must accept the situation as an economic Dunkirk, and cut costs by greater productivity. The dish may be unpalatable, but it must be swallowed.

The Industrialist Must Get Dollars

And because high costs of British goods have resulted in the loss of sales in the United States, the British industrialist has sold in the easier domestic and non-dollar foreign market. The government has perhaps agreed to this because it wants to maintain full employment. But the time has come when by supreme efforts the British must try to capture 1 per cent of the available $254,000,000,000 American spending. Just 1 per cent, some $2,500,000,000, would more than balance Britain's dollar deficiency.

Whether that can be achieved must depend largely upon the Labor government. Restrictive practices must give way to incentives, and the industrialist must at the same time be made to realize his obligations to get dollars, hard though the job may be. Such a policy will make any government unpopular, Labor or Conservative. But the issue cannot be avoided any longer.

OBITUARIES

MRS. FRED A. GOULD

Mrs. Mary Ellen (Frost) Gould died Monday, Sept. 5 at her home on 154 Salem st. after a long illness. She was born in Marblehead 72 years ago, and has been a resident of Andover for the past 44 years.

Besides her husband, Fred A. Gould, she is survived by a son, Frederick W. of Andover, one sister Mrs. Abbie F. Gertz of Marblehead, one brother, James F. Frost of Marblehead, one grandson, and one granddaughter.

The funeral was held Wednesday, at 2 p.m. from the Lundgren Funeral home. The Rev. Frederick B. Noss, pastor of the South Congregational church performed the services. Burial was in Spring Grove cemetery.

Bearers were: Frederick W. Gould, Richard Gould, James Frost, Raymond Frost.

WILLIAM J. MCCOLLUM

William J. McCollum, 96, a native of Andover, died at Odd Fellows' Home in Worcester Saturday night. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon and burial was in West Parish cemetery.

Mr. McCollum resided at 7 Lincoln st. until five years ago. His only relative is a brother, Fred, formerly of Andover, until a year ago when he moved to New York where he still resides.

WARREN A. PIKE

Warren A. Pike, 65, of 133 Summer st., a resident of Andover for many years, died Wednesday at the New England Sanatorium, Stoneham, following a long illness.

He is survived by his wife, Bertha Maddox Sutton Pike a step-daughter, Mrs. Mary Sutton Bixby of Springfield; a brother, Oliver M. Pike of Andover; three sisters, Mrs. Vernie Angus of Andover, Mrs. Eva Kelley of Reading and Mrs. Bertha Burditt of Grafton. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

DR. EDWARD S. ELLARD

Dr. Edward S. Ellard, 65, of 10 Williams st., died at the Lawrence General hospital Wednesday after a short illness.

He was born in Lisbon Falls, Me., but removed to Lawrence at an early age and upon graduation from the University of Maryland Dental school practiced in the latter city for more than 40 years.

Surviving are his widow, Loretta (Powers) Ellard, and a brother, Leon Ellard.

The funeral will be held Friday from the late home with a solemn high mass of requiem in St. Lawrence's church, Lawrence. Burial will be in the Immaculate Conception cemetery.

Town Topics

James F. McNulty, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. McNulty, 200 Elm st., will leave Sunday to study at the Augustinian seminary, Staten Island, N.Y. He attended Central Catholic High school, Lawrence, for two years. Members of his family will make the trip with him and stay at Atlantic City for a few days.

Mrs. M. Dupey of Minneapolis, Minn. has returned home after attending the wedding of her son Pater Markow, 87 High st., and Miss Geraldine Snow of Nova Scotia Sept. 3. She made the trip both ways by plane.

The Andover Housing authority met Wednesday night and interviewed eight candidates for the position of clerk of the works to represent the authority on the construction of the veterans' housing development. Action was deferred until a later meeting.

P. A. Evening Study Problem Announced

The Andover Evening Study classes for adults will open at Phillips academy Oct. 17 and continue through Dec. 8.

The adult education program, now in its 13th year has given courses to 3350 individuals in Andover and surrounding towns. It is staffed by members of the academy faculty and teachers from neighboring schools and colleges and by qualified citizens of the community. The instructors give their services without pay.

Next winter the program directors hope to inaugurate an Andover Film society to show and discuss some of the best films from various countries in the last quarter century.

This series will be given Wednesday evenings at 8:15 o'clock Jan. 11 through Mar. 1. A charge of $2 will be made for the series of eight evenings.

The programs are open to men and women. Further information may be obtained at Phillips academy or at libraries in Andover and in surrounding communities.
